Awakening Our Divinity

2012

Mandala Coloring Templates

Sacred Geometry is the language of the Universe, the language of creation.

By choosing to actively participate and interact with the symbols of creation, you are inviting new levels of your Divine Self to awaken within. It is a process that takes place beyond the logic of thought.

You are provided here with two Mandala templates, channeled in the first days of 2012, which assist us to awaken our Divinity and contribute to Divine Unity. The year 2012 is the year of the Great Shift where the opportunity to make huge leaps in consciousness is supported by energies reaching the Earth from our Galactic Center.

The coloring of these Mandalas is a sacred process of Divine Love and Intention.

Before beginning, it is recommended to create a sacred space in which to work. If you have the Messages of Universal Wisdom: Empowerment Cards, follow the instructions for Creating an Image Key Grid and position your table and chair in the center of the Grid. Alternatively collect together 13 crystals, stones and or shells . Use 12 of the crystals, stones or shells to make a circle, much like the numbers of the face of a clock. Place the 13th piece in the center under the table. If you are using the Empowerment Cards to form your sacred space you may choose to also add the crystals/stones/shells.

Please also utilize your own favorite ways of creating sacred space for yourself.

The first template...Awakening our Divinity ...is about awakening the 12 layers of your DNA; layers that have been sleeping for eons of time. The template is composed of 12 circles, each circle represents one layer of your DNA. The circles are interwoven to create a beautiful pattern of wholeness and our DNA is interwoven to create the wholeness of who we are. You are coloring to raise your consciousness through delving deep into the patterns of creation and inviting more of your true self to awaken and manifest within this lifetime, within this year 2012. As you color, hold the intention of awakening to your wholeness, your highest potential, your Divine Self. Be sensitive to how you are feeling as you color...

The second template...Divine Unity... is a 12:12 pattern composed of 24 circles. There is a beautiful flow to this pattern as it reminds us that we are ALL ONE, we are connected to everything that exists within creation and it is time for the Unity of the many facets of creation to come together in beauty and grace, and begin to work as one. How do you feel as you color this template? Is there a difference?

Together the two templates represent the 12:12:12 energies.

The templates Awakening Divinity and Divine Unity form the foundation of a workshop that Barbara has been offering during 2012. The pictures shown below give an idea of the diversity and beauty that can be created during the “Coloring to Awaken” process.

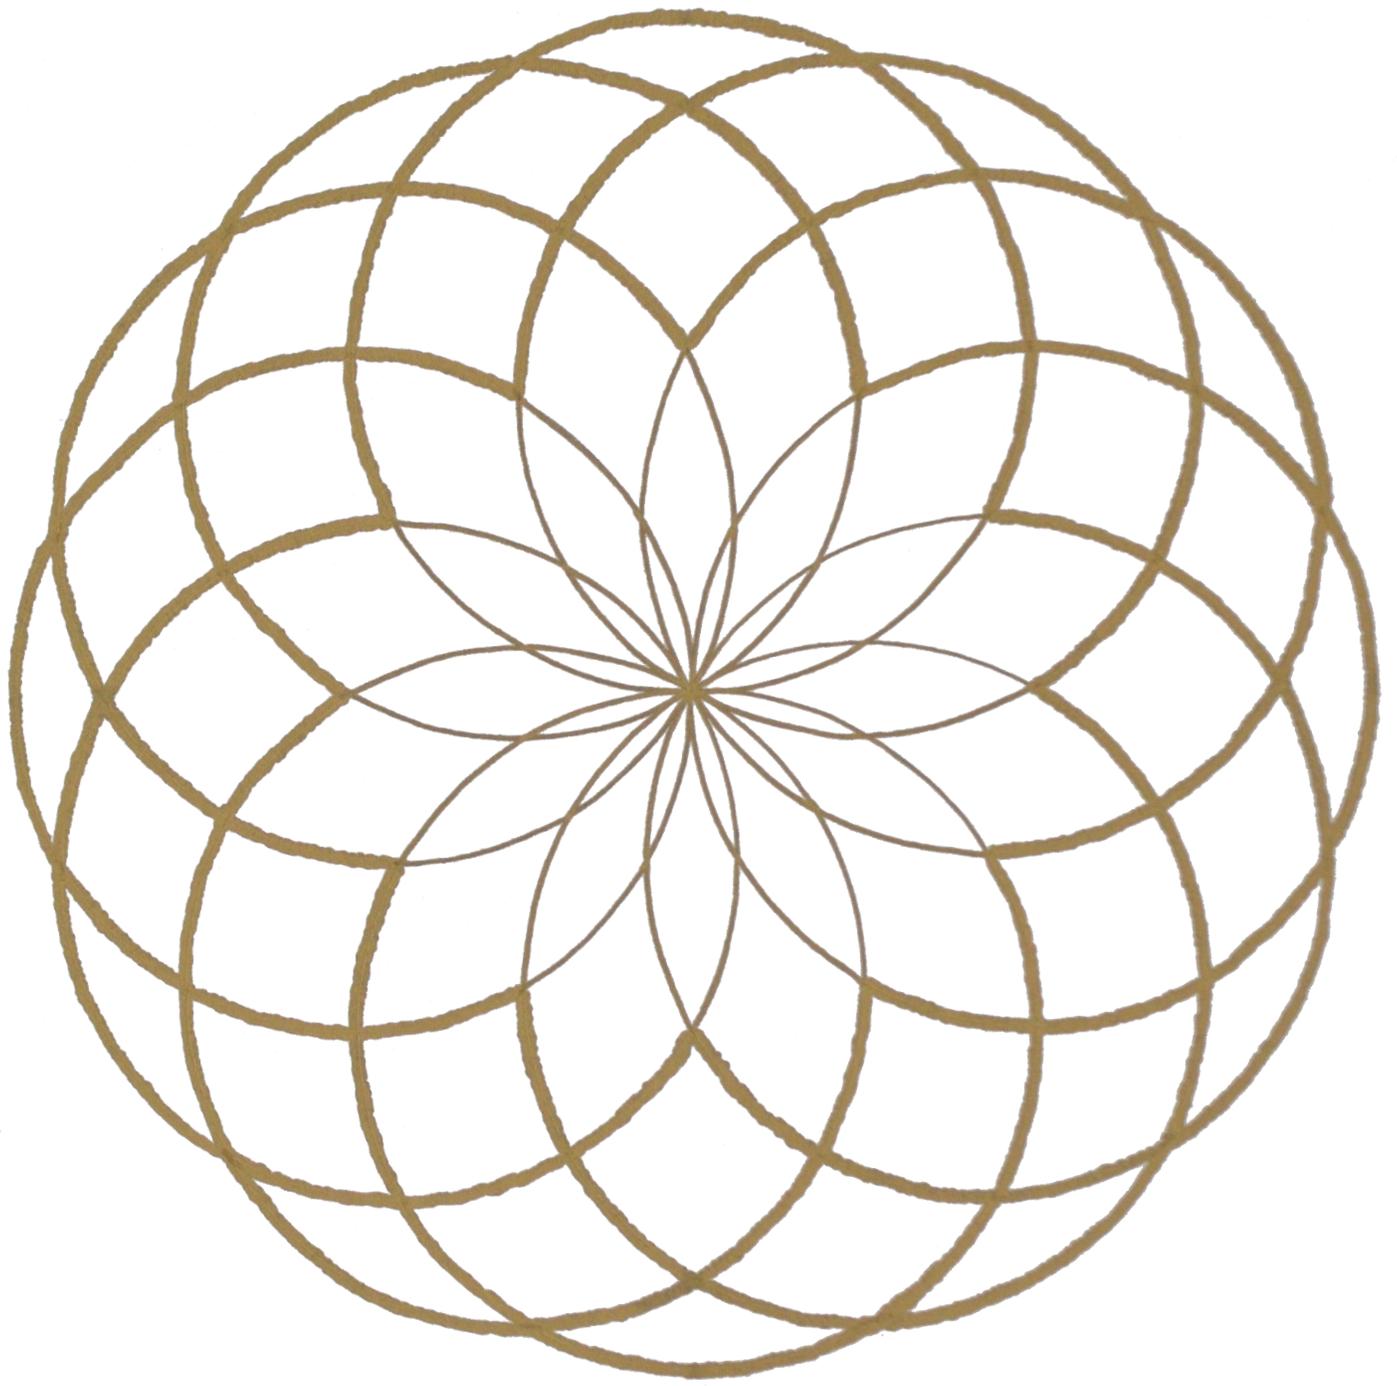

As you prepare your Sacred Space for the coloring, contemplate the names of the two Mandala Templates. What do Awakening Divinity and Divine Unity mean to you? You may find it helpful to gently put this into words, and highlight your intention. An example from one of the workshops... “My intention is to connect completely with my Higher Self and grow to my highest and greatest good”. You may even choose to write down the words, sign the paper, then place it in the center of the grid you have made. This process contributes to the essence of the space and the energy you will anchor into the mandalas. As you work on you templates, allow your intuition to guide you; call upon your Higher Self and Highest Guides to assist, guide and protect you.

In the workshop we finish by placing the Mandalas into our grid and meditate within the Sacred Space. You are invited to do the same... when completed, place your Mandalas on the floor within the Grid you made at the beginning. Allow yourself to meditate within these beautiful energies.

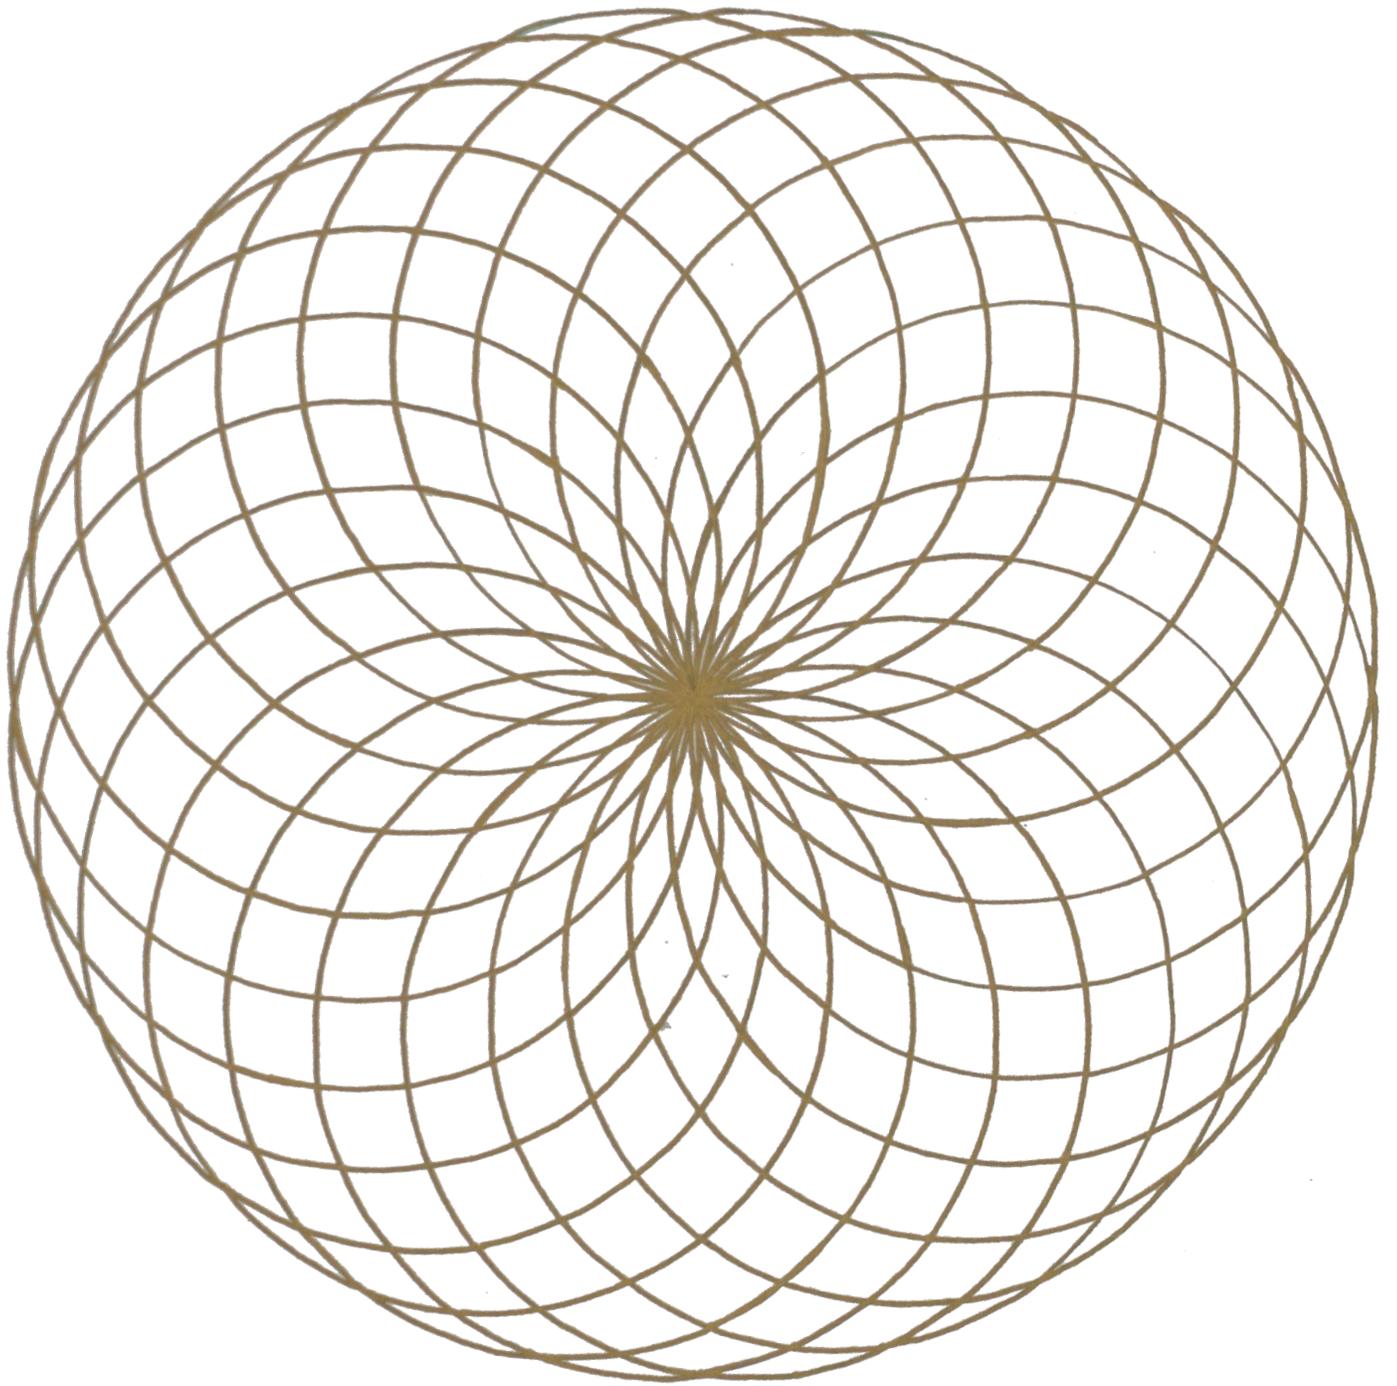

Do you receive any messages?
Perhaps these are in the form of colors, feelings, words floating through your mind or as pictures within...

Enjoy the creative process and allow your own intuition to guide you. The Mandalas will help you to reconnect with these intentions and energies every time you contemplate their beauty.
